Inspection Narrative

A routine compliance evaluation of the former Siemens Water Technologies Corp (Siemens) site was conducted on June 26, 2024. Siemens used to operate at the facility, but they sold the building to SuperATV in 2016. SuperATV now operates at the site, but Siemens is responsible for continuing groundwater monitoring efforts and disposal of subsequent waste. IDEM staff spoke on the phone with Mr. Matthew Myers, Siemens Representative, regarding the nature of the inspection. Mr. Myers was not on site at the time of inspection, so Mr. Chuck Hensler, SuperATV Director of U.S. Operations, participated in an opening and closing conference and led IDEM staff on a tour of the facility.

The former Siemens site was two hundred thousand (200,000) square feet and SuperATV recently made a one hundred twenty-five thousand (125,000) square foot addition. SuperATV employs one hundred eighty (180) people and operates a day shift from 6:00 AM to 4:00 PM as well as a skeleton night shift. Current operations on site include metal fabrication and finishing for after-market side by side parts. Mr. Hensler explained to IDEM staff that hazardous waste is not generated through these operations and a thorough facility tour confirmed that. Mr. Hensler and SuperATV have not taken on the responsibility of groundwater remediation, so Siemens continues to maintain their EPA ID Number and groundwater testing/disposal at this site. Mr. Hensler explained that once groundwater monitoring events cease at the site, he plans to close out all hazardous waste notifications associated with the site address and former operations.

Due to the lack of waste being generated on site and prior record review, this inspection was conducted pursuant to very small quantity generator (VSQG) standards. No violations were observed during the inspection. Please direct any responses to Katharine Frisbie at (317) 503-1213.

Regulatory Status
Observed Activity	Very Small Quantity Generator
Documents Reviewed
Comments	Siemens no longer operates at this site. Hazardous waste is generated through groundwater sampling events and does not occur monthly. There was no waste being generated or stored on site at the time of inspection, and SuperATV does not generate any hazardous waste, so the facility was inspected as a VSQG.
